This intricately woven blue and red Anarkali suit has an A-line cut and a flared hem that compliments all frames and body shapes. Made using the finest mulberry silk that is delicate on the skin, this elegant dress is sure to be your favourite pick across all seasons. The high Chinese collar and long sleeves lend charmingly to the grandeur of the suit, making for perfect formal wear. Slip into this dress effortlessly using the generous button-up side zip that gives you sufficient room for a comfortable fit.

The dupatta is a contrasting, rich red that borrows its print from the traditional and evergreen kanjeevaram designs. Embellished with golden tassels and intricately adorned booties, the dupatta is light-weighted yet grand. The churidar is created using a mix of cotton and lycra to provide for seamless movement and absolute comfort.

Accessorize this gorgeous dress with a set of high heels and long earrings with golden hues for the perfect festive look.
